

Opinion

The COVID-19 Vaccine

Mihnea Orza^{*}

6 Iosif Vulcan St., Cluj-Napoca, 400065, Romania

While Speaking about COVID-19, we Must Note the Followings

1. COVID-19 was created in a laboratory, through repeated sequencing – therefore, it was not created by nature, but artificially based on mutated viruses.
2. Inherently, nature does not accept, but destroys any mutation. In our case, Covid 19. This happens after a while, as it happened in cases of similar accidents.
3. If manhood is not ready to react to such mutations, the best solution is that of letting the nature run its course normally.
4. We know that the first property of a natural or artificial virus (as being the simplest and most destructive form of life) is the one of modifying itself until reaching the maximum level of virality, followed by a decrease as sudden as the growing one.
5. In the case of Covid-19, a virus created in the lab, his life as a viral form will be shorter as the human interventions will be more limited and less aggressive, therefore reducing its modification rate.

Mistakes Made in Handling the COVID-19 Crisis

1. Breaching the first rule, namely the one of not administering a vaccine during the pandemic. By doing this, the virus was forced to modify itself, apart from the ones occurring during the lab work.
2. Placing, inside the sanguine system, of viral artificial information which the lymphatic system does not know, therefore does not recognize. By this, the vaccine was annihilated, creating an immunity chaos that led to a paralysis of the defence system of the body. This led to the activation of some latent conditions and systemic imbalances in the functioning of the whole body.
3. The vaccine was administered to people that already been though the disease, reaching, according to the tests, from 300-600 immunity measure units, to values such as 20.000-30.000, a true immunity storm.

4. The vaccine was administered to people with preexisting collateral diseases, thing that led to sudden deaths, classified as accidents

Consequences of the Mistakes Made in Handling the COVID-19 Crisis

1. Damage of the sanguine system. After receiving the vaccine, namely an introduction of an artificial viral information, inside the sanguine system appeared imbalances which determined the outbreak of thrombi/clots, enhancing early diseases.
2. Damage of the cardio-respiratory system – arrhythmias, rapid heartbeat and blockages.
3. Damage of the digestive system – disturbances in the natural absorption of nutrients and slowdown of the elimination of residual substances.
4. Damage of the endocrine and hormonal system – frequent thyroid problems, which determines hormonal imbalances.
5. The nearest future sees a damage of the central nervous system, alongside with enlarging the number of cases of migraines, headaches, behavioural imbalances, such as anxiety and depression.
6. Ultimately, enhanced numbering in auto-immune diseases and cancer of any type.
7. The way in which the COVID-19 was approached determined a repulsion to what vaccination really means, even for classical; and beneficial vaccines. It led to a medical distrust and chaos.

Panic, fear and stress amplifies the mess in the immunity and endocrine system, already affected by vaccination and sickness. The future reserves with many bad and hard to anticipate consequences because of the same reasons – namely the ‘virus play’, wrong pandemic gestion and vaccination (correlated with the lack of/ retraction of antivirals that could have mitigate this artificial pandemic from pharmacies).

As a closing statement, we draw your attention to the following: by practicing hirudotherapy, we observed that by following the same method of utilizing medical leeches in anti-inflammatory diseases (in which they grown twice or thrice, and in which the ingested blood is consumed normally), we applied them after vaccination, resulting in their dimension growing 6 times in size and the ingested blood was expelled, a very unusual behavior (Figure 1).

Conclusions

- I affirm that this unusual growth is because of an organic inflammation.

Citation: Orza M. The COVID-19 Vaccine. Am J Clin Case Rep. 2024;5(2):1091.

Copyright: © 2024 Mihnea Orza

Publisher Name: Medtext Publications LLC

Manuscript compiled: Jul 05th, 2024

Corresponding author: Mihnea Orza, 6 Iosif Vulcan St., Cluj-Napoca, 400065, Romania

- The evacuated blood right after the ingestion shows the fact that these living creatures detected a toxin.
- These creatures had the possibility of immediate elimination, in contrast to humans – to whom the vaccine was introduced in the sanguine system, reaching the cellular level with an implied impossibility of elimination.

In my opinion, the research and experiments in this sense should continue, in order to understand how COVID 19 and the related vaccines affected us and to find valid solutions in this sense.

